Birthday is a salty word if your not a fan of cake and ice cream

Hi everyone, I have no idea how many of you remember its our "Rickey's World" 4th anniversary I always think about the day I started this website. I was so exited coz I was doing something like this for the first time. I did not know PHP or HTML. I just made it... I never thought that this journey is going to be so much fun. I met so many people around the world... I made very good friends here. I hardly felt a need of having a social network coz I have my own world and now its not just mine but its your world too I feel so satisfied when i see you all happy around here. Hope this relation stays forever.

The more candles, the bigger the wish. Lets wish our world a very very Happy Birthday
